Salem Youth Named Principal by Congressman John McSweeney

George R. Gibson, Jr., Is Selected As Third Alternate

A Salem youth, James Kenneth Leipper, was signally honored today when Congressman-At-Large John McSweeney, of Wooster, appointed him to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

Leipper, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Leipper, 752 E. Fourth st., graduated from Salem High School in 1936, after completing his four-year course in three years. At present he is a student at Ohio State University in Columbus.

The appointee's credits are sufficient to enable him to enter the naval school without taking an examination.

A copy of Congressman McSweeney's telegram to Leipper, informing the latter of his appointment to the naval academy, was received by friends in Salem today.

It reads: "I am proud to announce I have given you my principal appointment to the United States naval academy."

McSweeney, a nephew of the late W. H. Mullins, is well known in Salem. He has visited here on frequent occasions and has spoken at various meetings.

George R. Gibson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Gibson, 1004 S. Lincoln ave., was appointed third alternate by Congressman McSweeney.

Leipper, while brilliant in his high school studies, also excelled in extra curricular activities, including dramatic music and debate.

At Friends Church

Present day conditions and their relations to the prophecies concerning the second coming of Jesus Christ were discussed by Evangelist Wade Patrick of Alliance at the Sunday evening revival service at the First Friends church.

The evangelist made it plain that he did not believe in "setting dates" for the return of Christ, but he did state that he believed that "the next great event is the coming of the Lord."

Rev. Patrick told his large audience that "Christ is coming for the people who are looking for Him." So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

The men's quartet from the Church of the Nazarene, Cleveland, sang three selections and Mrs. Earl Smith, Canton, offered a solo. Several hundred people attended the service.

Sunday church officials decided to have the meetings continued until Wednesday evening. Rev. Patrick will preach Monday and Tuesday evenings and Wednesday evening there will be an "old-fashioned love feast."

Mrs. Smith left Monday for Mansfield, where she and her husband will assist in special services at an Evangelical church.

Young Film Star Faces Financial Crisis--
Making His $1 Allowance Last Out The Week

(By Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28.—Freddie Bartholomew, who earns $100,000 a year and rarely gives it a thought, plunged into a real financial crisis today—trying to make his $1 allowance last out the week.

That dollar, payable in advance by Aunt Mylicent (Cissie) Bartholomew each Monday, gets Freddie's concentrated attention.

Out of it the curly-haired English lad has evolved a budget—a frugal mode of spending which would make many American boys look like easy come-easy go splurge.

Of course, during 1938, Freddie will have to pay $67,000 federal and state income taxes, $15,000 attorneys fees, $9,800 living expenses and $5,000 agents' fees.

But these sums are too huge to have much meaning for a little actor who won't be 14 until next month.

The big, costly things in Freddie's private life are candy bars and western pulp magazines.

Freddie Bartholomew
He's crazy about two-gun cowboys and buys two magazines weekly to read about them. The cost is 30 cents.

He has a sweet tooth, which nicks him for a dime a day. He buys two candy bars, one for himself and the other for Ray Sperry, his stand-in during the filming of Robert Louis Stevenson's "Kidnaped."

At the end of the week, he puts the balance of his $1 allowance in his personal checking account. By great scrimping, Freddie has run it up to a staggering $10.80.

Keeping his bank book balanced is almost impossible. For bills of 20 cents and up, Freddie writes a check. Quite often, creditors keep a check for his autograph.

When his budget runs into red ink, he borrows a quarter from Aunt Cissie.

This is a debt he feels duty-bound to repay. So he has started up in business with a hand printing set he received for Christmas. He prints calling cards for such stars as Warner Baxter, Tyrone Power and Lorena Young.

Salem Groups to Join In Prevention Program Tomorrow

Fire Prevention day will be observed in Salem tomorrow with inspection of buildings, a joint luncheon meeting of civic organizations at noon, and educational talks in the high school auditorium for all school children in the city.

Gene Young, chairman of the local committee, announced today that all arrangements have been completed for 25 members of the Ohio Fire Prevention association to spend the day here investigating conditions, from a construction, equipment and upkeep standpoint, of mercantile establishments, industrial plants and public buildings.

"Home inspection blanks will be given school children for reports on Salem residences."

School children will be divided into four groups to hear the message of Harry K. Rogers, chief engineer of the fire prevention department of the Western Actuarial bureau, Chicago. He will speak twice in the morning to older pupils and twice in the afternoon he will give his clown act and message to elementary grade pupils.

At noon Rogers will be the principal speaker at a luncheon at the Memorial building. Gene Young will preside over the meeting, which will be attended by members of the Salem Business bureau, Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and other organizations.

A. B. Mehaffey of Canton, chairman of the committee representing the Ohio Fire Prevention association, has been assisting the local committee in preparations for the fire prevention survey and educational campaign here tomorrow.

Salem Group Presented With Plaque in Recognition of Its Safety Achievement

Recognition for a perfect safety record was given the Salem branch of the Ohio Edison Co. Friday night at a banquet at the Masonic temple, attended by 150 employees of the commercial, distributing and engineering departments.

R. L. Zintine of Youngstown, safety director for the Youngstown district, presented the Salem branch with a plaque in honor of its record of no lost-time accidents during the past year. The plaque is known as the President's award.

Zintine also revealed that the 10th consecutive year the Youngstown district has gone without an accident resulting in lost time has been named to receive the national safety award.

A. V. Smith, superintendent of distribution for the Salem branch, of which T. E. Miller is manager, served as toastmaster at the dinner. Short talks were given by W. A. King, general superintendent of the Youngstown district, and Samuel Stites, manager of the district.

The dinner was followed by a dance in the company's auditorium.

Student Is Honored

LISBON, Feb. 28.—Miss Olive Mae Bean of Lisbon, a student at Hiram College, was recently elected to the Alpha Delta society—an academic honor group—at the school. Only six per cent of the student body are eligible for the society.

Another Lisbon girl, Miss Ruth Ann Leonard, was one of 10 pledges initiated into the Alpha Delta society at Mt. Union college. Miss Leonard is the daughter of Superintendent of Schools and Mrs. H. C. Leonard.

AS SNOW FLIES

Week-end Blizzard leaves Blanket of White Over District

The thermometer dipped to 10 degrees above zero at 6 a. m. today on the heels of blizzard-like weather which struck Salem and other eastern Ohio cities Sunday.

Although snow and ice made traveling dangerous, Salem state highway patrolmen reported "no accidents over the weekend."

1.12-inch Snowfall

The weatherman gave hope for warmer weather as the mercury climbed during the day. The thermometer registered 16 above at noon. Total snowfall was reported as 1.12 inches.

The weatherman gave hope for warmer weather as the mercury climbed during the day. The thermometer registered 16 above at noon. Total snowfall was reported as 1.12 inches.

Although traffic mishaps were missing in the immediate vicinity, autos figured in seven fatalities in Ohio over the weekend. Three other Ohioans were killed in auto accidents in other states.

Two deaths resulted when an auto skidded and crashed into a tree along the Harding highway eight miles west of Marion. The victims were Martha Radcliff, 23, and Robert Anderson, 26.

At Cleveland, an auto crashed into another turning into a drive and Peter C. Schmitt, 55, was killed. A truck struck Emory Jambor, 74, killing him at Cleveland also.

Killed at Warren

A hit-skip auto caused the death of George Petrus 23 at Warren. An auto struck and killed William E. Thomas, 23, at Portsmouth.

Edward Taylor, 33, of Buchtel, near Athens, was found burned to death in his auto six miles south-west of Nelsonville. Police said he apparently fell asleep while smoking.

A freight train hit an auto at Miami, Fla., killing Ernest W. Shoenberger Sr., 73, and Mrs. Anna M. Vehr, 52, of Norwood, Cincinnati suburb.

John Dana, 48, Loudonville, O., died in a Bowling Green, Ky., hospital following an auto accident.

At Marion, John C. Hamner, 56, brakeman, was injured fatally when he fell beneath a railroad car.

171 Claims Filed
By County Workers

Columbiana county workers filed 171 claims during the month of January, a report of Supt. Thomas P. Kearns, of the division of safety and hygiene, disclosed today.

None of the claims was fatal although one caused permanent partial disability. Thirty-one claims listed more than seven days lost time and 24 others seven days or less. A total of 115 medical cases were reported.

The time loss as a result of the accidents was 1,522 days.

Two Girls Burned

DETROIT, Feb. 28.—Two young girls were burned to death and their sister was severely injured last night when fire swept the second floor flat of the Irvin E. Kraft family.

The dead were Lillian, 8, and another sister, Kathryn, 5. An older sister, Kathryn, 8, was placed under an oxygen tent in a hospital and not expected to live.

ISSUE RELIEF
TWICE A MONTH

Council Expected to Approve Plan At Meeting Tuesday

City council at its first meeting in March Tuesday night is expected to approve a new plan of giving out relief orders on a twice-a-month basis.

The food orders would be issued the first and the 15th of each month, rather than intermittently, and would be more in line with the policies of the county's new relief set-up.

R. C. Eckstein, Perry township trustees' president, said today their relief orders would continue to be issued on Friday afternoons.

In connection with relief orders, City Auditor Karl Webster has appealed to local merchants to turn in their bills for relief orders within three days after purchases have been made by the indigents. This must be done, he warned.

Fred S. Smith, chairman of the lighting committee of city council, will report Tuesday night concerning the meeting between his committee and T. E. Miller, Salem district manager of the Ohio Edison Co., relative to the proposed abandonment of condemned concrete light poles in the city.

It has been proposed that city switch its bulbs and lines from these old standards over to the poles owned by the power company.

Methodist Pastor Urges Cooperation of Labor, Capital in Solving Problems

Rev. H. J. Thompson, pastor of the First Methodist church, was principal speaker at the first meeting of the Forum Sunday afternoon in the Memorial building, sponsored by Salem lodge No. 1538, SWOC.

About 150 persons heard Rev. Thompson tell the shop workers the church is not out of touch with the working man's problems, and that the gospel of this age is the gospel of a more abundant life.

"When labor and the employer come together and recognize the fact that man is a thousand times more valuable than the machine he runs, then we'll get somewhere," the speaker said. Rev. Thompson was introduced by LaVerne Halsey, president of the lodge.

Music was provided by Miss Victoria Cosgarea, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Esther Odoran, and J. Bernard, Leetonia accordionist.

From time to time the SWOC lodge, through its Forum, expects to present other speakers, including Edwin Faulhaber of Youngstown, representative of the Social Security board; Albert Cochran of Cleveland; John Grajciar, Warren, a SWOC representative; John T. Mayo, Mahoning Valley district director for the steel workers group and William LaVelle, SWOC legal staff member.

(By Associated Press)
TOKYO, Feb. 28.—A leading Japanese naval authority asserted today that "America is unable to have anything like confidence in her navy's ability to cope with Japan" because Japan has defeated the United States in naval building.

The authority, Rear Admiral Tota Ishimaru, retired, considered one of Japan's foremost commentators on naval affairs, made this analysis in a new magazine article.

"Superior In Quality"

The Japanese navy, he said, is superior in quality to the United States fleet. He added that Japan had no need to fear a naval building race.

A naval war, the retired admiral said, would be dangerous to Japan only if Great Britain were able to enlist both the United States and Russia.

Ishimaru declared that a poorer Germany outlasted a wealthier England before the World war and that Japan was "far from the loser" against the United States.

"In competition with Japan," he wrote, "the United States was financially harassed. It has been discovered that Japan was far from being the loser."

"The Japanese navy's qualitative efficiency is superior to America's to such an extent that America is unable to have anything like confidence in her navy's ability to cope with Japan."

"The Race Has Started"

Ishimaru concluded that a naval building race was inevitable, and added significantly:

"Despite the (Japanese) foreign office's denial that Japan is building 43,000 ton capital ships, the race already has started. Since Britain is rearming, America must take necessary steps to keep her navy on equal terms. Japan, too, will be forced to participate."

He doubted that the United States and England would be able to cooperate efficiently in a Pacific ocean war.

Ishimaru said Soviet Russian participation in a Pacific war would be serious.

"Japan," he said, "must encourage German and Italian naval expansion on one hand. On the other she must maintain at whatever cost a navy equal to America's."

"That done, she need have no fear of the combined forces of Britain and America."

Frank Hendricks, Alliance, Sought Money For Education

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Feb. 28.—Frank J. Hendricks, 24, former collegiate football star in Ohio, lay in Receiving hospital today with a police bullet wound in his left thigh and faced an accusation that he staged an armed robbery.

Assistant Prosecutor Harry Letzer quoted Hendricks as saying "I had to have money to continue my education."

Hendricks was graduated from Mt. Union college in 1936 and had been doing study at Ohio State college. While at Mt. Union he was a star halfback and won a place on the all-Ohio conference eleven.

Letzer said Hendricks told him he came to Detroit expressly to stage holdups. He owed a $39 Detroit hotel bill.

"I issued $100 worth of bum checks and I wanted to square those too," Letzer said Hendricks told him.

Hendricks was shot Sunday afternoon a few minutes after a gas station attendant had been robbed of $38.75. The robber got into a taxicab and was followed in a few minutes by a police scout car.

A few blocks from the scene of the holdup Hendricks got out of a cab and Patrolman Ira Brier fired two shots at him, one hitting him in the thigh.

Sgt. Ear Anderson said Hendricks told him he had made an unsuccessful attempt to get work in Detroit, Buffalo and several Ohio cities.

Police said Hendricks carried a .38 calibre special revolver evidently having been used in railway mail service.

At Columbus, Ohio, Joseph A. Park, Ohio State university dean of men, said Hendricks had been missing from the campus about 10 days. The family home is in Alliance.

Mine Sealing Aids
County's Streams

LISBON, Feb. 28.—The quality of water in county streams and lakes has been greatly improved through the sealing of abandoned coal mines, according to R. M. Liggett of Columbus, a representative of the state engineer's office.

Liggett is testing various bodies of water in the county to determine their fitness for fish stocking. He will report to the state conservation department, who will act on his recommendations in future consignments.

Water entering lakes and streams from the abandoned mines was formerly a source of contamination. Following the sealing of the majority of the mines the water improved greatly in quality, he says.

Mine sealing in this county is complete with the exception of Unity township. It was undertaken as a WPA project.

Price Cope To Talk
At Grange Meeting

"Transportation" is the subject of an address which will be given by Price Cope at the meeting of Salem Grange Friday night. The roll call subject will be "Some Method of Transportation."

Other features planned for the program are: Reading, "The Art of Living," by Mrs. Charles Whinnery; vocal solo, "Singing Through," by Evelyn Sheen and vocal solo by Miss Twila Yates.

The regular business meeting will also be held.

Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church, was in Youngstown today, attending the pre-Lenten retreat for Lutheran pastors of Youngstown and vicinity.

Rev. H. C. Brillhart, D. D., pastor emeritus of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of Leetonia, was to be one of the speakers. Other sermons were to be preached by Dr. Jesse LeRoy Miller of the Grace Lutheran church of Youngstown, Rev. H. E. Dummire of the St. Paul's Lutheran church of Warren and Rev. C. F. Christiansen of the Sharon, Pa., Lutheran church.

The sacrament of the Holy communion was to be celebrated at 10:30 a. m. with Rev. W. G. Wise of the Bethlehem Lutheran church of Youngstown as liturgist.

Patriotic Program
At Highland School

A patriotic program was given at Highland school recently, the singing being directed by Miss Dorothy Kram, music supervisor. A lunch was served.

The program included: Welcome speech, Doris Bardo; music by the upper grades; recitation, "St. Valentine's Day," Betty Davis; playlet, "The Valentine Tarts," primary grades; music, Jimmie Snyder; recitation, "Valentine," Carl Hrovatic.

Song, "The Bird's Valentine," six pupils; harmonica music by Hartman family; play, "When the Wrong Valentines Went Right," given by Kent Mayhew, Twila Yates, Betty Jane Ingledue, Raymond Hartman, Ruth Gromley and Jimmie Snyder; recitation, "The Good Old Times," Morris Hartman; recitation, "Lincoln, Boy and Man," Clarence Davis.

Play, "Who's Who In February," by the upper grades; trumpet solo, Walter Everett; Valentine song, Carl Hrovatic; playlet, "Voila's Valentine," Dorothy Harris, Anna Hrovatic, Rita Clare Pottor, Dorothy McDonald and Twila Yates; song, "The Bold Salesman," by four pupils.

Robert Biles Bound
Over to Grand Jury

Police Chief Ralph Stoffer and Sheriff Harry L. Gosney returned Saturday night from Muskegon, Okla., bringing back Robert Biles of Salem, wanted here on charges of removing mortgaged property and desertion.

Biles is accused of having driven west in a car belonging to the Dunlap Motor Co. Police at Muskegon picked him up.

The prisoner pleaded guilty to both charges when arraigned this morning before Mayor George Harroff, who set bond at $1,000 on the first charge and $500 on the desertion charge, which was filed by his wife. Biles was then bound over to the grand jury.

Loot Lisbon Home

LISBON, Feb. 28.—The looting of the residence of James M. Hanna, while he was in Florida on a vacation, was reported to Patrolman Charles Patterson yesterday.

Hanna returned home Saturday night and found that his house had been entered and ransacked by intruders who took three watches, some old coins, and between $5 and $6 from two baby banks.

The thief, or thieves, crawled up over a back porch and removed a pane of glass from a window to gain entrance.

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—Eighteen leading Democratic representatives discussed with Gov. Martin L. Davey at a private meeting last night the situation created by a state senate graft-hunting investigation and the imminent adjournment of the legislature, it was learned authoritatively today.

Information was that no conclusions were reached at the conference.

Mentions No Names

House Speaker Frank R. Uible confirmed that there was such a meeting but declined to say who attended.

Uible said indications were that house Democrats would split about 50-50 on any move to extend the adjournment date, set for tonight.

He added that only about 10 Democrats in the house appeared to favor any impeachment move against the governor. Such action has been rumored but never clearly defined.

Those attending the meeting here were all understood to be second or third-term veterans of the legislature.

Indications were that a resolution to extend the legislature's life to permit the senate probes to function further would be presented probably by Rep. Michael V. Disalle (D-Lucas). Aside from Uible's comment, there was no indication what support it might gain.

Legislators Bewildered

A stormy atmosphere, laden with bewilderment, unrest and apprehension, greeted members of the Ohio legislature as they returned today for the scheduled final day of their special session.

Although the two houses had agreed on sine die adjournment today, they were confronted by so much work and so many problems and issues that several days were needed to complete their business.

Thrust at them first was the question of whether the session should be prolonged so that the senate investigating committee could continue its inquiry into alleged graft in the state government.

William Stitt of N. Lincoln ave., arrested Friday on a charge of hit-skip, was back in Mayor George Harroff's court Saturday to face another charge.

The motorist hadn't been out of jail 24 hours until Patrolman Clifford Todd picked him up on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Arraigned before the mayor, Stitt was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve 30 days in jail.

Friday afternoon Stitt paid a fine of $30 and costs on a charge of hit-skip, filed by W. Scott Wilson of Leavittsburg, following an accident at the corner of S. Lincoln ave. and E. Pershing st.

His second arrest came when Patrolman Todd saw him crash a "red light" at the intersection of S. Ellsworth ave. and Pershing st.

LISBON, Feb. 28.—Two checks totaling $54,300 were received by County Auditor John H. Irwin today from the state.

The one check, amounting to $38,000, was from the state of use as poor relief money. The funds will be allocated to the various cities and townships after Norman J. Hirt, relief examiner, checks current bills.

The other check, for $16,300, came from the state gas tax fund. To each of the 18 townships was allocated the sum of $350 while the county's road and bridge fund received an addition of $10,000.

FIRE PREVENTION

Salem has been fortunate in its fire losses for many years. One reason, accepted and appreciated by Salem residents, is an efficient fire department headed by a chief well informed on fire prevention as well as fire fighting methods.

To aid him in his educational campaign and to check up on fire hazards, a Fire Prevention survey will be conducted in the city tomorrow. Information to be given the public at that time points out the way people can keep down or lower insurance rates in their community. By calling attention to hazards and methods of eliminating them, it promotes greater protection of their property and lives. The more constant and complete the protection, the less the public will be required to pay for guarantee against loss by fire.

Insurance companies have no premium revenues except those collected from their policy holders. Their expenses depend on the number and destructiveness of fires for which they must pay the damage. Consequently rates will rise when losses go up and rates will go down when losses decline enough to make a reduction advisable.

One good year in respect to fire losses will not bring cheaper insurance. Rates are fixed over a considerable period of time. A city must prove that there is good reason for expectancy that the loss will stay at a low level. When it has done that it will be able to secure protection at a moderate price.

The expectancy of a low fire loss average is based on several factors. Hundreds of millions of dollars a year go up in the smoke of fires in this country that could have been prevented by simple precautions. First necessary things in preventing this needless loss are the elimination of hazards, possession and proper location of enough effective fire-fighting equipment, and a fire department that is well organized and contains men who are efficient physically and mentally. Any community having them can keep its losses down over a long period, even though it may be unlucky enough to have a bad year once in a while.

AFRAID TO TAKE IT

The war debt worry isn't going to be reopened by Hungary's proposal for a settlement—not if certain congressmen have their way.

Before the startled Hungarians had time to get braced for a reply, these congressmen were snapping back at them: "We've trafficked with the taxpayers' money long enough and far enough." No compromise! Just like that.

Hungary's offer would entail paying principal and forgetting interest. The original loan was small, but interest has been piling up on it, despite payments, until the interest is now greater than the original loan. It is the same thing which has happened to all war debts.

Taxpayers, thankful for someone being ashamed about what happens to their money, may think it's poor judgment to refuse to take half a loaf when there's no chance to get a whole one. But when they remember that probably the first effect of any kind of a general settlement of war debts would be to soften their hearts so the European brethren could borrow more money, it will appear that the congressmen who snapped back at Hungary probably have the right idea.

AN ARRANGEMENT

Gestures of cooperation between WPA in New York state and the recruiting service of the United States army to encourage enlistment of young men on relief rolls, thus creating vacancies for persons not on the rolls but deserving to be, are straws in the wind.

They mean this: The United States is not immune to the perilous association between unemployment and militarism. Though far from ready to lighten unemployment by the standard method of building a huge army to absorb it, this country, too, is being tempted.

Fortunately, there is no sign that the arrangement by which WPA officials in New York state hoped to help themselves and the army recruiting system at the same time was approved by Washington. Disclosure of the plan to approach men on relief with at least the implied threat of barring them from relief if they didn't enlist will halt further action, no doubt, pending official instructions. Those instructions, it seems safe to say, will be to the effect that men on relief who are eligible for enlistment in the army should not be placed under any obligation, even a moral one, to change their status.

NO SOAP

The secretary of the interior, Mr. Ickes, knows something now he may not have known before he made his recent broadcast to the English people. His countrymen are touchy about what's said in their behalf to outsiders. They're touchy about who says it for them, too. They're even touchy about anything being said at all. Comment on Mr. Ickes' efforts has been uniformly critical.

It won't do him and other officials of the government any harm to find out that what may be nothing but another radio speech when delivered at home is a matter of great importance to other Americans when it's an international broadcast. If this country's going to advertise itself, it wants the job to be done right.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following "New York Day by Day" column, by Oscar Odd McIntyre, was prepared by the famous New York writer and distributed prior to his death.)

NEW YORK—In the manner of Arnold Bennett's journal, Dr. Frank Crane was able to get more stuff ahead than any syndicate writer I know. His daily essays were cheerful philosophy. He loved to write them. Shortly before he died he showed me enough material in his California workshop to last nine years.

So many top-drawer night clubs with hideous names: the Waldorf's Sert Room and the Iridium at the St. Regis. How thoughtful humanity at times. George T. Fox was once a property boy in Massachusetts where Eva Tanguay used to play and whom he adored.

Today he is the owner of a mineral bath resort at Guthrie, Okla. He read of Miss Tanguay's invalidism from arthritis in this column. So he telegraphed her to be his guest and all he asks in payment is that when she departs she will leave her crutches as souvenirs.

In the past 25 years Roy Howard has traveled a half million miles and the place he likes best is Honolulu. The only other person I know to travel so extensively was the late Carl Seitz, whose first choice was Shanghai in its better days. My choice for the down coast is Delft in Holland.

I wish I could print Gene Fowler's impious version of Dr. Ned Gimp's address before a medical society at Seacucus, N. J. In a life of generous laughing nothing convulsed so thoroughly. It's a throw-back to those choice Rebalaisian essays Mark Twain circulated among intimates. I never see Bide Dudley I do not think of his outrageous lap dog Boo when Dudley and I bivouacked at an uptown hotel and everywhere Dudley went the pooch, beribboned in pink, followed, mistaking Bide, I suspect, for a bone.

All of a sudden the established wing collar for a gentleman's dinner jacket has become completely passe. In its stead is the medium high turnover and thus the asman receives an avalanche of out-moded neckwear. A stylist tells me Jack Buchanan popping over from England with the low down in collars for evening resulted in the sudden switch. One collar, shirt and tie blend seen often lately, however, gets my vote: The ash gray shirt with collar to match and a deep purple four in hand. It was first offered, I hear, by Carey Grant at one of the afternoon functions. A flash of long ago: Tossing the first conversational ball after the visiting presiding elder had murmured grace by brightly remarking: "Oh Grandma we've got the butter knife on, haven't we?"

More and more debutantes turn from the social buzz. I notice Albert Keller's daughter Claire is a sales woman in a pet dress salon. The staffs of Harper's Bazaar and Vogue are packed with youngish blue bloods. Frank Craven is my idea of a natural actor. He needs neither makeup nor costume. "Our Town," his latest play, is a keen etching of village life with Craven's son in a leading role. Ed Wynn's son Keenan is cast in the Lillian Gish show. When Justice Cardozo was a nipper in brass-toed boots his tutor was Horatio Alger of the up-from-sidewalk tales.

THE STARS SAY:

For Tuesday, March 1

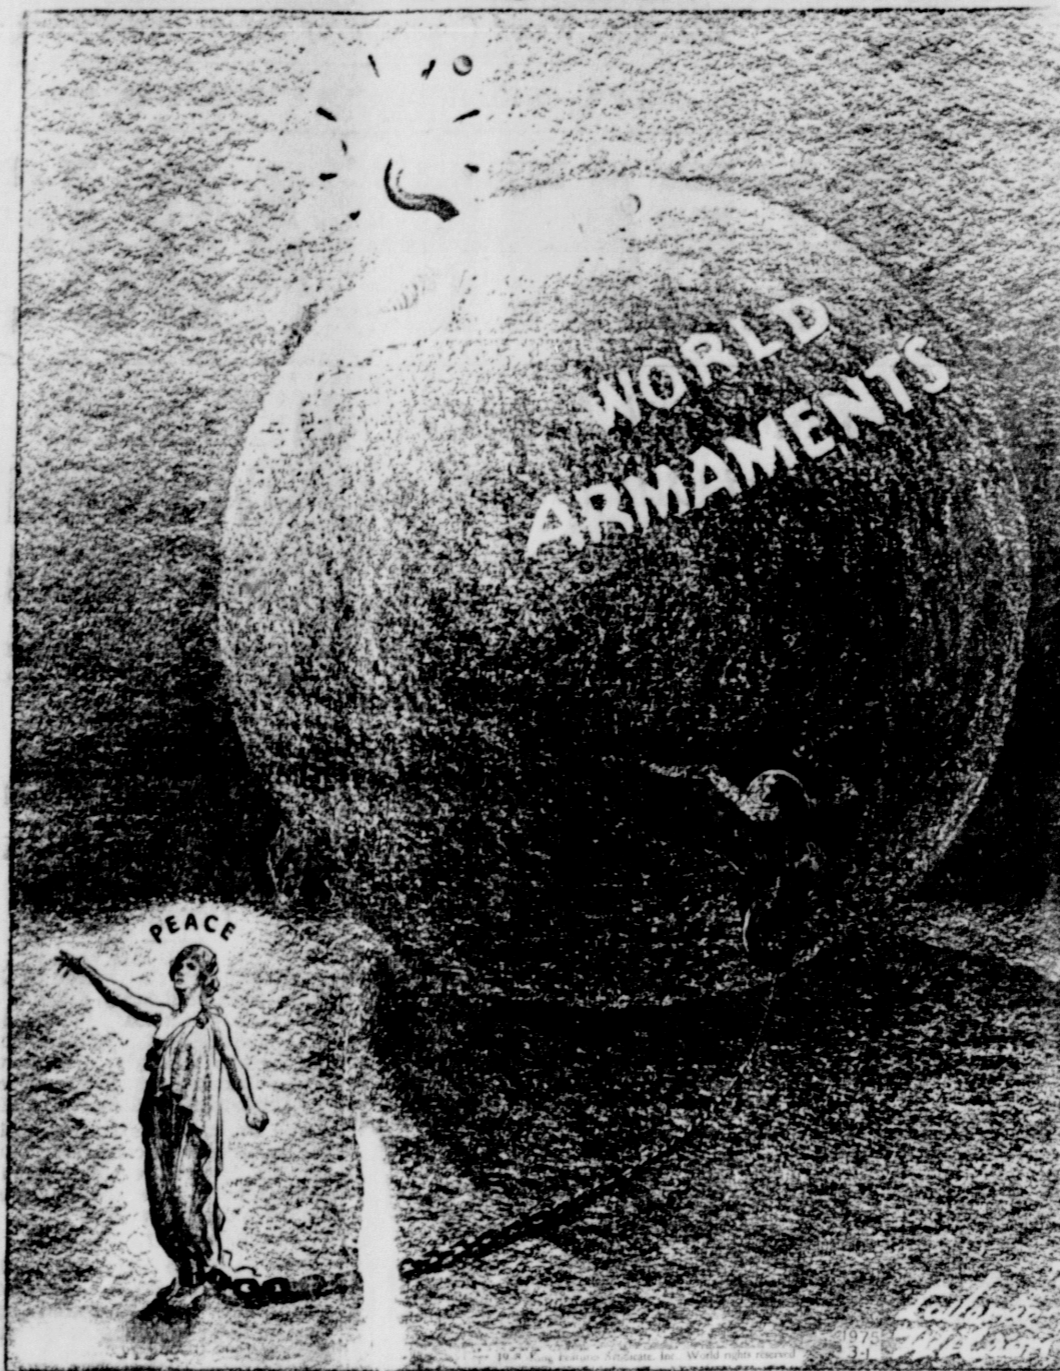

Judging by the very interesting planetary configurations, this should be an active and profitable day, with excellent returns for industry, sound judgment and sagacity. Some hasty good news probably will call for change, travel or other forms of adventure and chance. Friendship may have an important part in the general trend of events, with romance likewise increasing happiness and prosperity.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very lively and interesting year, with good news resulting in change, travel, new ventures and associations. Industry and good judgment will be rewarded suitably, and old matters should flourish. Friendship and romance should lend themselves to the happy and progressive state of affairs.

A child born on this day may be lively, quick, brilliant and adventurous. It should have sound judgment and be successful and happy.

DAY OF PRAYER TO BE OBSERVED

Columbiana Church Will Have Special Program Friday

COLUMBIANA, Feb. 28.—The World's Day of Prayer for Missions will be observed in Columbiana with a service in Grace Reformed church at 2:30 p. m. Friday, under the auspices of the Missionary societies of the town. The public is invited to attend the service, in which the various pastors and church representatives will take part. The program will be the same as used by similar groups throughout the United States.

Benjamin Firestone post has received notice from the U. S. Veterans bureau that a concerted effort is being made in March to have all unemployed veterans seeking employment register with the nearest office of the U. S. Employment Service or State Employment Service.

Such registration carries no promise of a job but assures the veteran of assistance in securing employment. H. C. Culp, service officer of the local post, will gladly inform any veteran as to the location of the nearest public employment office.

Benefit For Scouting

Troop 16, Boy Scouts of America, will sponsor an entertainment in the Columbiana High school auditorium at 8 tonight. Jack Dunigan and His Trail Blazers from Station WWVA, Wheeling, W. Va. will provide an entertainment program. Funds derived by the troop will be used to promote local scouting during 1938.

The March anniversary program of the Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will be given at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday at the church. Mrs. W. D. Young will be devotional leader and Mrs. John Coyle will review the last chapter of the study book, "Mecca and Beyond." Mrs. V. C. Basinger will present the plan for the 70th anniversary.

The Sunday evening union service was held in Grace Reformed church. Rev. W. R. Gobrecht presented an illustrated lecture on the life and work of David Livingstone. The Ladies' Aid society of Grace church will have an all-day meeting Thursday to do sewing for the hospital. A committee will serve dinner at noon.

Rev. C. J. Sutorius, pastor of the Lutheran church, will hold the usual series of mid-week Lenten services, starting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. The first subject will be "The Way of Sorrows." Services will be held each Thursday until Easter.

Hostess to Class

Mrs. William Barton entertained members of the Philo class of the Methodist Sunday school at her home with Mrs. Kenneth Bell as associate hostess. Devotions were led by Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Barton, class president, conducted the business meeting. Games and contests were enjoyed, followed by a lunch. There were 24 present. The date for the next meeting will be announced later.

The L. L. class of the Presbyterian Sunday school met Friday evening at the church. Mrs. F. J.

McGahan led devotionals and the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. C. E. Smith. Games were enjoyed, followed by a lunch served by the hostesses: Mesdames Lena Hart, Ira Hetrick, H. B. Kyser and J. H. Nolan. The March meeting will be a coverdish supper at the church and the annual election of officers.

Mrs. D. H. Hepburn entertained Saturday afternoon honoring the ninth birthday of her daughter, Virginia. A group of schoolmates were guests. Games and contests were enjoyed, followed by a lunch. Virginia received many pretty gifts.

Assembly Program

The Columbiana High school assembly program Friday was in charge of the Sophomore class, sponsored by Miss Elizabeth Starr. It consisted of a musical reading by Muriel Miller; vocal quartet: Mary Lou Crowl, Vilda Buchner, Lulu Kurtz and Louise Buhecker; playlet, "Do Your Worst," with the following taking parts: Helen Prizant, Vernon Hoover, James Burkle, Eugene Royle, Ruth Hammond; playlet, "Be Home By Midnight," played by R. Moore, Betty Moore, Billy Dewalt, Donna Stacey, and John Barrow. Music was also furnished by the school orchestra directed by Miss Lucille Funkhouser.

The Daughters of the King of the Lutheran church will meet Tuesday evening at the church, when Music Night will be observed, with members of the choir as guests. Devotionals will be in charge of Mrs. L. R. Wilson and roll call response will be Scripture passages relating to music. The choir will present a musical entertainment. A reading, "How Padewski Played," will be given by Miss Ruth Henry. Entertainment and decorating will be in charge of Mrs. Ed Hiner and Miss Virginia Vollmole and hostesses will be Mesdames O. V. Todd, Wilmer Yarian, Carl Leshner, Ed Bierman, Ray Rock, David Firestone, George Greiner and Luther Donbar.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. B. Fuhrman expect to leave Monday for a six-week trip to California and other western points. The itinerary includes a stopover at the Grand Canyon, San Francisco and Portland. While in California they will visit Mr. Fuhrman's brother, Walter Fuhrman and family, and sister, Miss Sarah Fuhrman, resident of Downey, Calif. The latter is suffering from the effects of an auto accident of several months ago, and will not be able to resume her duties as a professional nurse until next fall. Miss Catherine Fuhrman will be in charge of her father's insurance business during his absence.

Dr. Guy H. Black, Kokomo, Ind., will conduct two sessions for church workers in the Methodist church on next Tuesday and Thursday, at 3 p. m. Dr. Black will explain "Visitation Evangelism" and will give instructions as to methods for conducting a visitation campaign in the local community. The workers from other churches are invited to attend these sessions.

Class Has Meeting

The King's Daughters class of Grace Reformed Sunday school met Friday evening at the church with Mesdames Byron Brubaker, R. I. Mollenkopf, Arthur Myers and W. B. Treadwell as hostesses. Sewing was done for the Salem City hospital.

Rev. C. E. Siler and family have moved from Bellaire to Goshen, Ind., where Rev. Siler has accepted the pastorate of the Grace church. Rev. Siler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Siler, East Park ave.

PNEUMONIA

In the United States it has been proposed to battle a serious national evil. A campaign is directed against that dreaded disease, pneumonia, the most deadly of human ailments. This affliction of mankind takes an average toll of 100,000 lives in the United States every year. It is time to end it.

Although a great deal is known about pneumonia, a definite cure is not yet available.

It is caused by a germ called the pneumococcus.

There are actually 32 different types of this germ. They are responsible for many diseases, including the various forms of pneumonia. Although these various types of the pneumococcus resemble one another and are capable even of producing similar symptoms, the diseases they produce require different treatment.

New serums have now been perfected, and it is believed these will help reduce the seriousness of this disease. These serums do not prevent pneumonia. Neither can they be considered as a positive cure for all cases of the disease. But their definitely beneficial effect cannot be disregarded. In fact, it is hoped that through the use of the serums the death rate of the disease may be reduced by more than 50 per cent.

Some Drawbacks

Unfortunately, there are several drawbacks associated with the use of the serums. First, they are expensive. Then, they are not always available. They are of little value late in the disease. They can only be given after the "typing" of the patient and an accurate test has been taken to determine the nature of the pneumonia present.

To insure the availability of serum treatment and to make known its importance, are the purposes of the campaign. This will require a great deal of money. I am glad to say that funds have been provided in many communities. The New York state legislature voted a $400,000 pneumonia control budget.

It is estimated that more than 100,000 persons will contract the dreadful disease during the "pneumonia months." On this account every effort is being made to hasten the campaign. It is hoped that as a result of these efforts disease will be robbed of its dangers.

Answers to Health Queries

Mrs. G. S. Q.—My little son, two years of age, has eczema. He has been put on a diet, eliminating acids, sugars and wheat flour. He has goat's milk. What can be done to overcome the trouble? 2: I am subject to hay fever. What do you advise for this annoying condition?

A—Proper diet and regular elimination should be of great benefit under the circumstances. For more particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. 2: Careful skin tests should help to fix the cause of the trouble and you can be treated accordingly. For further particulars, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

"Women In Love" by May Christie

CHAPTER XVIII
He spent a quiet Christmas day at home.

His sister, Claire, was as usual, at her post in the apartment at Park Avenue, playing the eternal contract, with Captain de Freya and her friends.

Bernice was waiting for the often certain Freddy to call her up. She had a tentative appointment with him.

Dad has gone to his club, the one that he half-mournfully, half-irrepressibly referred to as "The last of the Mohicans."

For with the change in his fortune he had resigned from all his posts, save this, whose yearly subscription was comparatively modest.

Ann encouraged him to go there. "It's dull for you sticking around home full of women-folk, darling."

He said boy will lose his head. Ann was his standby and his comfort. These hard days that were still so new to him.

While his mother, complained and grieved, Ann it was who continued to help him make the adjustment.

He adored Ann.
She was his youngest daughter, too, and smoothed him down when he was dreadfully upset and annoyed by a newspaper item in connection with Bernice.

He had not realized the nature of his duties at "The Laughing Pig" until it had been unfortunately drawn to his attention by a fellow-member at the club.

Under the heading of "Society Goes to the Saloons," a columnist penned a paragraph with a dig in its tail.

Between the witching hours of 8 p. m. and 10 p. m. the swine like whoopee—and how! at the rendezvous aptly known as "The Laughing Pig," in the Park Avenue Hotel.

The presiding goddess, Mrs. C. E. Stanley, with the face of a Madonna and the blue blood of a noble, presided over the faraway circle.

"Darling, it's frightfully exaggerated," Ann had sought to soothe her.

"And I'm only there from five to seven—be the hours wrong?" explained Bernice—as though that was important. She added, more formally: "And no one ever stays tight there, Daddy."

Which was untrue.
"The whole idea is perfectly absurd to me. You must resign," said Ann. "I can't have a contract. It won't run out till after New Year's."

"I'll stop before six every day and be with her, and bring her home seven o'clock for dinner," volunteered Ann. "She's counting on me to pay check for Christmas presents, darling, and other expenses. When her contract's out, she won't renew it."

Thus he had been temporarily released, but when he had gone, Bernice had whined: "You didn't tell me I'd give it up, Ann. I don't know it's the only real thing I have of seeing Freddy!"

Now, as the two sisters sat together on Christmas afternoon, Bernice brought up the subject of a cocktail club.

"It was a sore spot with Ann. The newspaper had been circulated around the store. It was reported that she herself was the Delafield heiress reigning over the hours of 8 p. m. over the farmyard at the Laughing Pig!"

"Say, you look all in this morning, Miss Delafield! That job on the outside must be swell, but it sure does tell on the looks," one of the salesgirls in her department had said to her, with no catty intention.

The grapevine system of news was at work. There was no way of combat, beyond flat denial.

Straight from the store with no leitering or apparent "dates," didn't she head at half past five each afternoon for the East Fifties?

Still water ran deep. Didn't the printed sarcasm about "the face of a madonna" bear out that old saw? Ann Delafield needed watching.

She was leading a double life. Thus the report.

Since the publication of the paragraph, it seemed to her there was a positive chilliness in the manner of the merchandise manager towards her, on the few occasions of their meeting during business hours.

On that wet afternoon some week ago, hadn't he driven her from the store direct to "The Laughing Pig"? He had no reason to disbelieve that she went there daily as cocktail-hostess, and were he to make inquiry, a description of her older sister, roughly speaking, might well apply to herself.

Impossible to run to him and say: "It isn't I. It's my sister Bernice." That would be both officious and disloyal. And it might merit a good snub.

Recollecting the finish of their conversation at the dance, too, about business and romance not mixing, there was no particular reason for Ann to be in good spirits this Christmas afternoon.

She was worried about her sister. There were rumors afloat the coincidence of Claire and Captain de Freya winning so frequently when they were partners at contract.

Suppose some of the most daring columnists hinted at it. Dare she have a plain talk with Claire?

That Bernice was no longer the lovely, laughing girl she had been at the commencement of her job was now obvious to Ann. Not only had she lost a large portion of her looks—dark circles under her eyes, flabby figure from too many cocktails—but she was breaking her heart over Freddy—worthless Freddy!

"I do so want you to be happy," Ann told Bernice, "but do you honestly think that happiness and Freddy go together, darling?"

Tears sprang to Bernice's blue eyes.
"I can't help it, Ann. I'm crazy about him. I guess if I hadn't—if I hadn't been so easy with him, he would think more of me now."

Ann paled.
"Easy? Did she mean cheap in the way of kisses, of keeping tabs on him and running after him?"

"Bernice, you—you don't mean—" She couldn't get the words out. She could only stare dumbly at the sister who once had been so fresh and ovely to look at, and who now sat slumped before her in deep dejection, dull eyes staring out of the window, ears waiting for the summons of a telephone that didn't ring.

"I mean," said Bernice after a long pause, "that now we've lost our money I guess I'm losing Freddy—and I can't bear it!" She burst into tears.

With a measure of relief mixed with her sympathy, Ann flew to her side. So Bernice really loved him?

Loved funny, irresponsible, selfish Freddy. It was too fantastic when she could do so much, much better! But love was a queer thing. It came when you didn't want it—unhappily—as she herself well realized.

"Darling, if you want him you shall have him. You know he's been fond of you for years. Why wouldn't he, when you're so awfully pretty, and so sweet to him? Where would he get anybody half so attractive?"

A gleam of hope appeared in the eyes that were like wet delphiniums. Ann's consolation was sweet.

"But there are plenty of other men who would fall in love with you, Bernice, darling, if only you'd get your mind off Freddy. Twenty-one's very young to believe yourself permanently in love."

She thought, "What of myself. Sure it is nineteen!"

But it was all over with Paul Bradley. Or was it more vanity on her part to imagine she had ever attracted him?

"I don't want anybody but Freddy," Bernice declared.

"But why?" Bernice, turned astonished and reproachful eyes upon her. "Can't you see how amusing and clever and good-looking he is?"

"Thought Ann: 'I'm blind and deaf, evidently.' But all she said was, 'Ain't love grand?'"

"The trouble is that so many other girls are after him. Rich widows, too. They simply deluge him with invitations." Tears again threatened.

"Then why not show Freddy that you're plenty of other admirers?"

If only Bernice could have her heart turned in another direction! "I shall always care for him, and no one else," Bernice's lovely mouth set obstinately.

That carking question in Ann's mind again? Just how far had matters gone between her sister and the young interior decorator?

Instead of opposing things, might it not be better, in the circumstances, to help them along?

"You see, darling, Freddy hasn't grown up yet. I'm sure he's fond of you, but he's an irresponsible boy," Ann said gently.

"He's twenty-eight. He's a man. He can make good money if he works. If—if I were his wife, I could make him work," said Bernice with a touch of resentment.

Thought Ann: "Sublime optimism!"

"What would father say?"

"That he only wants me to be happy."

The telephone rang. Bernice flew to its summons.

"Come right over, Freddy! Merry Christmas, big boy!"

A wonderful thing was love!

Ann had a strange dream that night about Bernice.

It harked back to the Skating Carnival. Her sister was with Freddy, skimming towards a huge "Finger! Keep off!" sign.

She skated frantically after Bernice and Freddy. The latter turned to meet her, tried to stop her, saying Bernice was an excellent skater and knew where she was going.

But at that moment the ice broke under Bernice and she disappeared!

Ann woke herself with a smothered scream at three o'clock in the morning. The luminous hands of the little traveling clock on the stand between the two beds pointed to that hour. She switched on the light. Bernice's bed was empty.

Ann stole in Claire's room. Claire was in bed.

Father and mother likewise in their own room. An eerie stillness lay over the apartment.

Where was Bernice? No ball or big party was scheduled for the past evening. Nothing, anyhow, that would go on to the wee, small hours.

Back to bed went Ann, but was unable to sleep. Bernice was her charge. Even though she was two years her junior, Ann was by far the stronger character, the more resolute of the two sisters.

At a quarter after three, Ann stole to the cupboard in the entrance hall. Closing the door carefully behind her, she lifted the telephone from its shelf among the coats and umbrellas, and called up "The Laughing Pig."

"Miss Delafield?" a waiter repeated in a foreign voice.

"Yes. My sister. Is she there? Please have her come to the telephone. Say it's important."

She had to wait for fully five minutes. There was a confused babel of sounds at the other end of the line.

"Still making whoopee!" she thought ironically. Dad had been right. It was utterly disgusting for a gently-nurtured girl like Bernice to be hitting it up till all hours of the morning in a drinking saloon no matter what you called it!

"Is that Ann?" hiccupped a male voice. "Sure Bernice's here. She's tight to the gills, my darling! Come on right over and join the party!" Click! The communication was cut off.

Should she telephone again? Try to locate Freddy?

She did so, but with no results. The noise was apparently so loud inside "The Laughing Pig" that the ring of the telephone was drowned.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated—due to lack of "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft, bulky mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps your bowels move.

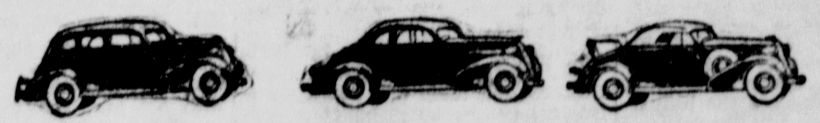

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-aid, vitamin B. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

YOU COULD BUY A STRAW HAT FOR MUCH LESS IN WINTER

And like straw hats, used cars will become more valuable and higher priced as spring days approach. It is very likely much higher prices will be asked for good used cars within the next 30 to 60 days. Buy now, start to enjoy the advantages of a better used car right away and save the difference.

Automobile Dealers at the present time are overstocked with "up-to-the-minute" used cars. The prices on these cars have been cut to the point where you can buy more car for the amount invested than ever before.

Naturally in the spring, there will be a greater demand for these late model used cars. The average stock of cars in any dealer's place of business includes practically every make and body style. Many are extremely late models with low mileage, group "A" accessories, and all the modern features embodied in the cars being built today.

It's possible that never again will you be able to buy a good used car at present bargain prices and such easy terms.

Call at any one of the many dependable automobile dealers now, inspect their values or locate the exact car you would like to own from the many that are advertised regularly in The Salem News ad section.

Mrs. Walton, 71, Honored By Relatives

Mr. and Mrs. John Walton of West Second st. entertained 30 relatives at dinner Saturday evening in honor of the 71st birthday of Mr. Walton's mother, Mrs. Nina Walton.

In connection with the event a miscellaneous shower was held for Mr. and Mrs. Arlow Dustman of Salem. Presents were given the honored guests.

Patriotic Program Is Presented

An address by Miss Addie Bonnell on the subject, "The Early Life of Washington," was one of the outstanding features of the party given by Sons of Veterans and auxiliary at the G. A. R. hall Friday night.

In addition to Miss Bonnell's talk, the program included addresses of welcome by Mrs. Amos Eltriken, president of the auxiliary, and George Mounts, commander of the Sons of Veterans; vocal solos by Miss Ada Lottman and Harold Babb, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Babb; reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by Joseph Bentley; salute to the flag; group singing of "America" and piano solo by Mrs. Babb.

A play entitled "Glamour for Mrs. Whipple" was given by Mrs. Ralph Snyder, Mrs. Walter Anderson, Mrs. Katherine Walsh, Miss Irene Miller and Miss Lottman. The play was directed by Mrs. George Peterson.

Lunch was served with patriotic colors decorating the tables. A social time was enjoyed following the program.

By MARIE MAROT

AS far as most of us are concerned, suit news is fashion news. Whether it be a classic tailormade, a dress with matching coat or jacket, or an assemble-your-own suit, we are interested. And before it gets warmer, a jacket outfit is fine under a coat. One coat-and-skirt outfit, bought now, is good for five or six months of daily wear. And the colors for spring are already co-ordinated so that if you buy a suit now it won't look out of the picture come the season of sunshine. And it is always easy to dress up a suit with new accessories. Two-color suits, of the type sketched below, are always good; now they're better than ever. Cleverly-placed, cleverly-shaped pockets make this suit charming. At top is a suit of Saxony tweed, with a flared skirt and a high-cut jacket so styled that it can be worn without benefit of blouse.

Interesting pocket arrangement makes this two-color suit charming.

The Saxony tweed, above, has flared skirt and high-cut jacket. It can be worn with or without blouse.

Attend State Rally Of Auxiliary

Mrs. Harold Wykoff and Mrs. Ralph Sturgeon returned yesterday from Columbus, where they represented the Salem American Legion auxiliary at the mid-winter auxiliary conference Saturday.

The Salem delegates were present at business sessions of the conference and the reception for Mrs. Malcolm Douglas of Washington, president of the national auxiliary.

They also attended the banquet Saturday evening at which Atty James Suhr of Cleveland, state commander of the American Legion, spoke. More than 400 persons attended the banquet.

Mrs. Wykoff and Mrs. Sturgeon will make their report to the local auxiliary at its next meeting Tuesday, March 7.

George Frank West Birthday Host

George Frank West entertained 17 boys and girls Saturday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank West, of 222 E. Sixth st., in observance of his fifth birthday anniversary.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. West, with favors for each guest. Rose-colored table and room decorations, gaily-colored balloons suspended from the chandelier, and a birthday cake centering the table made the appointments effective.

Games, singing and dancing were diversions.

Mrs. Beck Hostess To Her Sisters

Mrs. C. I. Beck entertained her sisters, Mrs. J. L. Heacock and Mrs. C. R. Moore, at a dinner Thursday at her home on Morris ave.

A letter was read from another sister, Mrs. E. A. Penfield, who is spending the winter in Eustis, Fla., with her husband.

The table was attractively decorated in national colors, honoring the birthdays of two famous presidents, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Friendship Class Is Entertained

Members of the Friendship class of the Baptist church were entertained recently at the home of Miss Gloria Jane Keefer of 470 East Perry st.

The business session was followed by a social hour. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Marriage License

A marriage license has been issued at Lisbon to Walter L. Bower of New Waterford and Alice Buchecker of East Palestine.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Whitacre are suffering from attacks of influenza at their home on South Market st.

Miss Jesse Guy is confined to her home on the Salem road by illness.

Petitions Demand Governor's Recall

CLEVELAND, Feb. 28.—Petitions demanding the recall of Gov. Martin L. Davey were circulated here today.

L. Leon Shepherd, suburban Lakewood private investigator who is listed as complainant, said they had appeared or would appear in Columbus, Youngstown, Toledo and other Ohio cities.

He said the 60,000 signatures necessary for court action are expected to be obtained in 10 days, that the men and women circulating the petitions are volunteers, and that "no one is financing the petitions."

The petitions ask for Governor Davey's removal on grounds of "contumacious, malfeasance and misfeasance in office."

Child Fire Victim

MARTINS FERRY, Feb. 28.—When fire swept an apartment house today it burned to death Jane Ann Haines, 4, who was ill with measles. Eleven others escaped.

DAVEY CONFERS WITH LEADERS

Meets Privately With Democrats; No Comment Is Made

mental appropriation for poor relief were the principal items of business for which the special session was convened Nov. 29.

Also on the program of unfinished work were proposals for creating a state relief administration, for appropriating $17,000,000 to old age pensions, for creating a state building commission with authority to issue $10,000,000 worth of bonds for welfare institution improvements, and more than a score other suggestions for legislation.

Probe Is Chief Topic
The senate investigation and its sensational disclosures, however, were the topic of most discussion as the lawmakers came back to the capital after a recess which began Feb. 10.

The senate and house could cover their clocks and remain in session as of Feb. 28 to finish their work, but sine die adjournment would terminate immediately the existence of the investigating committee, the attorney general has ruled.

Testimony that Gov. Martin L. Davey bargained with automobile manufacturers and utilities for campaign contributions, that the state purchasing department paid excessive prices for materials and that an alleged trust of paving contractors "gouged" the highway department on contracts has led to a movement that the investigation be continued.

Democratic and Republican legislators, many of them bewildered by developments of the inquiry, were eager to consult party leaders before deciding on what should be done.

A general opinion that a two-thirds favorable vote would be necessary to prolong the session caused some observers to doubt that the Feb. 28 sine die adjournment date would be altered.

WASHINGTONVILLE

Following the recent meeting of the Valley temple No. 406, Pythian Sisters, the birthday anniversary of Washington was honored during the social hour.

Lunch was served at a table decorated with appointments in keeping with the day. Mrs. William Grim read an article on "The Patriotism of Washington." A reading was given by Mrs. Russell Smith on "Washington."

Cards and bingo were enjoyed, with prizes at cards won by Mrs. William Grim and Mrs. R. W. Boston, and at bingo by Mrs. Emma Wisler and Mrs. Ed Frankfort.

A Pythian Sister benefit card party will be held in the home of Mrs. Edward Girard on Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4. The public is invited.

Visit With Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Taylor of Youngstown were Tuesday visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Taylor, and helped to celebrate the birthday anniversary of their daughter Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alexander entertained at a family gathering in their home, honoring the birthday anniversaries of her sisters, Mrs. Vivian Jacobson and Mrs. Marie Sullivan, and the seventh wedding anniversary of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Spozetta.

Fourteen guests were present and enjoyed a coverdish dinner at a table centered with a pink and white birthday cake. The social hours were spent with games and contests with honors won by Fred Corl.

Fortnightly club members were entertained in the home of Mrs. J. A. Stouffer on Thursday evening.

Other guests were Mrs. Margaret Spear, Mrs. F. L. Stouffer, Mrs. Harvey Baker, Mrs. Thurl Pluggan and Mrs. Elmer Indermill. Cards were enjoyed with honors won by Mrs. L. J. Davis and Mrs. Ansel Senheiser. The consolation prize went to Mrs. C. H. Weikart. The hostess served lunch.

Birthday Party
Mr. and Mrs. Myron Baker of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. White of Columbiana and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Cutchall were entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jackson on Wednesday evening, honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Jackson. Cards were enjoyed with honors won by Mr. and Mrs. Cutchall. The hostess served lunch.

Theater Attractions

John Howard, Jean Parker and Walter Connolly, appearing in "Penitentiary", at the Grand tonight and tomorrow.

"Mannequin", a new Cinderella story of a shop girl who marries a millionaire, continues tonight and Tuesday at the State theater. Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy are co-starred for the first time in a dramatic, romantic, human story of two people seeking happiness, with the world against them. Miss Crawford again is the "Dancing Lady" as Jessie Cassidy, a show girl who got her start in the squalor of a New York tenement house and wound up in a multi-millionaire's penthouse, but who asked for nothing more than a three-room apartment and the man she loved. Tracy is John L. Hennessey, two-listed boss of the waterfront, a man who rose from a dock worker to become a millionaire steamship owner.

Newcomer Has Important Role

Alan Curtis, a newcomer is given his first big screen opportunity as Eddie Miller, a handsome, fast-talking weakling who marries Jessie and can't hold her. Also prominently featured are Ralph Morgan, Mary Phillips, Oscar O'Shea, Elizabeth Risdon and Leo Gorcey, who plays the same type of swaggering waterfront tough role that brought him fame as "Spit" in the Broadway stage production of "Dead End."

Jessie Cassidy (Joan Crawford) marries Eddie Miller (Alan Curtis) to escape from the poverty of a New York tenement that she can no longer endure. On her wedding night she meets John L. Hennessey (Spencer Tracy), who falls in love with her. Hennessey also was born in a tenement, but rose from the docks to own a line of ships. When Miller proves to be a cheap crook, Jessie divorces him and determines to live her own life. Hennessey, determined in his courtship, prevails upon her to marry him even though he realizes that she does not love him. On their honeymoon Jessie learns to love him, and they are happy. This happiness is threatened when Miller attempts to blackmail Jessie, a plan thwarted when Hennessey goes broke. With an opportunity to prove her love, Jessie does so and together they start a new life.

At the Grand tonight and Tuesday is "Penitentiary", featuring John Howard, Walter Connolly and Jean Parker.

FRUIT BECOMES REAL DELICACY

Frozen Fruit Cream Recipe Ideally Adapted For Busy Housewives

When there is nothing else to fall back on for dessert on club day or wash day or when unexpected guests arrive, the answer inevitably—and sensibly—is: Open a can of fruit and serve it with cream!

But when those same peaches, raspberries or apricots and cream can be turned into a delectable frozen dessert in a matter of minutes, why not do it, every now and then? Here's how!

FROZEN FRUIT CREAM

(Serves 4-6)

2 cups canned fruit (with juice)

1/2 cup sugar (approximately)

1 cup coffee cream

Mash the canned fruit, with its juice, and sweeten with sugar. Combine with the cream and pour into freezing container of modern ice cream freezer, filling it not more than two-thirds full; assemble and cover.

Surround the freezing container with three parts of crushed ice to one of rock salt, and turn the crank steadily and slowly for five to 10 minutes, or until turning becomes difficult. Then carefully remove the cover, lift out the dasher and pack the ice cream with the back of a spoon. Place a piece of wax paper over the top, replace the cover, draw off the excess water and replenish the ice and salt mixture. Cover, and let the cream harden for an hour before serving.

There are two easy ways of getting the crushed ice for the freezer. One is to get it already crushed from the ice service man, and the other is to take it from the ice compartment of a modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator, such as the Giffens Ice & Coal Co., has provided citizens of Salem.

This frozen dessert also lends itself to the use of left-over fruits, mixed or plain. Simply "collect" them in a fruit jar and store, uncovered, in the ice refrigerator until two cups have accumulated. And that's the homemaker's cue to make frozen fruit cream!

FIBER CONTENT TEST POSSIBLE

Methods of Determining Various Types of Goods Explained For Buyer

Many fabrics are bought under a trade name which does not reveal the type of fiber content. This is particularly true in fabrics containing more than one type of yarn, as is the case in perhaps the majority of fabrics on the market today.

Experience has shown that many buyers and few women are familiar with the practical tests which make it possible quickly to determine the actual fiber content. The tests are quite simple and accurate, and with a little experience anyone can detect the presence of the various types of fibers in a very few seconds.

Three Primary Groups
Three groups of fiber are in common use—the animal fibers, silk, wool and various hair fibers such as llama, camel's hair and mohair; the vegetable fibers, such as cotton, linen, and in some cases ramie and jute; the synthetics, or man-made fibers, including rayon and cellulose acetate, with their many trade names.

L. C. Price, manager of The Paris Cleaners, gives the following practical tests that anyone can apply without microscope or various chemicals in order that those interested may know what they are buying in either yard goods or ready-to-wear garments.

HOUSING BILL AIDS PROGRAM

Ten Per Cent, Instead of 20 Per Cent, Enough To Start On

An optimistic outlook for construction in Salem during 1938 was voiced today by officials of the Peoples Lumber company.

This belief was encouraged by information received from A. L. Heasley, resident manager, who is in Cleveland attending a two weeks' housing conference which has attracted 350 building material men from 21 states in this country, and 17 provinces of Canada.

Other representatives of the Peoples Lumber company also attending are D. G. Jaeger of Salem, and F. L. Griffin of Columbiana.

Study Problems of Industry

This conference, sponsored by Johns-Manville and held in the form of a "Housing Guild" training school, is devoting intensive study to problems confronting the building industry, and to plans for stimulating home construction and remodeling. The basis of the Housing Guild system is the sale of modernization jobs and new homes as complete packages. A person wishing to build or remodel need only get in touch with a Housing Guild to receive expert advice and assistance on plans, costs and procedure, since a Guild is composed of architects, contractors, real estate men, financing agencies, and all factors that enter into a building job.

Stimulation of homebuilding and remodeling in Salem should result from the results in wearing qualities and other features such as a dry-cleaning.

A very small piece of any material is all that's necessary. Ravel the yarns, separating the warp from the filler thread. This is necessary because garments are often made from more than one type of fiber.

Burn Each Separately

Now burn each set separately with a match, holding one end of the yarn in the fingers and note: The way in which the fibers burn; the odor; the appearance and feel of the ash.

Silk will burn very rapidly and go out almost immediately. The ash remaining is a small, brittle black feel. The brittleness can be determined by crushing the ash between the fingers. The odor is similar to burning feathers.

Weighted silk contains tin salts and in the burning tests only the silk part burns, leaving a brittle skeleton of the original fabric. If the flame is applied to this, it will glow like a red hot wire.

Wool, chemically is very similar to silk and other animal fibers, and therefore burns in somewhat the same manner. However, instead of flaring and melting into a ball, wool burns unsteadily with a sputtering flame, appearing to sizzle or fry. A brittle, black, cinder-like ash is left. The odor is stronger and more like hair.

Cotton Flame Small

Cotton burns with a small, steady flame. When this is extinguished, the yarns often smolders with a creeping ember, leaving a light feathery ash. The odor is familiar to everyone as rag.

Rayon burns much the same as cotton, since both are composed primarily of cellulose. It does burn more rapidly, smolders when the flame is extinguished, but leaves no ash. The brilliant tone of rayon and the dull tone of cotton are also quite apparent.

Cellulose acetate burns more rapidly than any of the other yarns. It melts into a round, hard black bead. This differs from the silk bead, in that it cannot be crushed between the fingers. The odor is rather woody, something like burning punk. If cellulose acetate yarn is held close to a flame it will melt. No other fiber behaves in this manner.

If you know the kind of fiber and consider the weave you can be certain as to its quality. Salespeople often do not know and a little experimenting will soon qualify you to determine for yourself.

Bargains are plentiful. The ads. will tell you where.

HOME BUILDING INCREASE SEEN

Ohio Dealers' President Predicts Sustained and Mounting Volume of Business

A sustained and mounting volume of home construction, starting this spring and continuing for a number of years, was predicted today by Aaron L. Kelsey, president of the Ohio Association of Retail Lumber Dealers.

Kelsey, who is president of the Kelsey & Freeman Lumber company of Toledo, is the third generation of his family to engage in the lumber business. The company he heads was founded in 1856 by his grandfather, the late A. L. Kelsey.

"The building boom that all America expected to start as soon as the depression ended was frustrated," Kelsey declared, "by a mistaken belief that radical innovations in construction methods would revolutionize housing. The public delayed building in the hope that governmental experimentation would show the way to huge savings."

Governmental housing projects, Kelsey pointed out, have consisted chiefly of developing large rental communities, whereas the American people of moderate means have clearly shown a preference for owning their homes, and national surveys have indicated that 70 per cent can afford homes costing $5,000 or less.

During 1935-37, Kelsey affirmed, lumber dealers built more than 3,000 demonstration homes in 300 cities and villages, and all were promptly sold at prices averaging $3,900.

"This low cost housing program," he declared, "is to be pushed with increased vigor during 1938, and will include eight modern designs that can be built for less than $5,000. With a backlog of six million homes needed to house our population adequately, the outlook is more promising."

Consult the Peoples Lumber Co. here for the latest in designs and building methods. The local firm is cooperating wholeheartedly in the home-ownership program.

CONFERENCE BOASTS POINT-A-MINUTE TEAMS

FREE SCORING KEYNOTE FOR COLLEGE LOOP

Ohio Conference Has Several Point-A-Minute Cage Teams

By FRITZ HOWELL.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 28.—For a swashbuckling, free-scoring basketball loop, you can't beat the 20-team Ohio conference.

With the collegiate cage season dashing into its final week today, an even dozen of the state's 33 major teams are booming along at better than a point-a-minute, and 11 of the 12 top-notchers are members of the Ohio league.

The five Ohio members of the Buckeye conference, generally near the top of any scoring list, are far down in the ruck this year, not one of them getting into the select class.

Western Reserve, unattached, has scored an average of 47.2 per tilt to the Wittenberg in fourth place in effectiveness and back the monopoly of the Ohio loopers on the scoring laurels.

Out front by a "country mile" are Wooster's rampaging Scots with an average of 56.3 per game, but the best the Scots can do this week as they wind up with two contests is cinch second place in the conference and the state-wide team standings.

Toledo, with Chuck Chuckovits doing the major portion of the scoring, is second in the high average list with 48.4. Capital, led by Ray Heischman and "Parson Paul" Weaver, has finished its chores with an even 48-point average for third place.

Others in the 40-per-tilt class are Marietta, Bowling Green, Kenyon, Case, Ohio Northern, Mount Union and Findlay. Northern's Polar Bears have a better offensive average than Mount Union, but have won but three of 15 while the Mounts have won 17 and lost two.

The answer to that is that the Mounts have put up the second-best defense in the state, holding the foe to a 30.4 average. Akron's unattached Zippers have the top defensive mark with an even 30 per game, something of a feat in these days of towering scores.

In Ohio conference games the Scots have racked up an average of 61.3 per game, as compared with 56.1 compiled by the Champion Wittenbergers.

Mount Union fared a little worse defensively in the conference games than in other play, but its 31.6 mark topped the league. Wittenberg was the state-best defensive team, as well as the runner-up on offense, its defensive figure being 34.3.

Cincinnati had the state's lowest offensive record, scoring an average of but 31.3 per game, while Ohio Northern allowed the foe 51.3 per game to finish last defensively.

Eighteen games this week wind up the season, but the games have no bearing on the titles. Mt. Union is "in" with the state-best laurels, Wittenberg is the Ohio conference champ, and Marshall has the Buckeye crown tucked away, as well as the best offensive and defensive records in that loop. The Huntington "herd" has averaged 46.3 to 27.8 for the foe in league tilts.

DISTANCE STAR BREAKS RECORD

Glenn Cunningham Sets New Mark For Indoor Mile

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—The master miler complained with some bitterness that he "didn't get warmed up enough for that last race."

A ripple of laughter swept through the locker room at Madison Square Garden. The athletes had just returned from watching Glenn Cunningham run the greatest indoor metric mile in history to set an astonishing new indoor record of 3:48.4 for the 1,500 meters in the National A. U. championships Saturday night.

Glenn looked a little hurt. "No, I mean it. I had a radio appearance and I got here a little late. Say, that first half was slow, too; 2:05, I understand. But I guess I can't kick. I've got to rest, I have to run another 1,500 in the medley relay."

Most of the other athletes stood around looking at Cunningham. One of them, Jim Herbert, had turned in a record of his own when he had raced 600 meters in 1:20.3 to set a new standard and beat the strongest field in the meet.

Peter Bradley of Princeton stayed with Cunningham for most of the first half and Gene Venzke turned on a brief spurt at the start of the last quarter which served only to touch off Cunningham's drive.

Venzke's old mark was 3:49.9, Jack Lovelock's outdoor record is 3:47.8.

Other athletes around included Ben John, who tied the world record of 5.6 in winning the 60-meter sprint, and Allan Tolmich, who clipped the 65-meter hurdles record to 8.5.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — During the 1937 season for deer hunting, 32,211 bucks were killed in California. This was an increase of 9,191 over the year previous.

SALEM SAXONS GAIN 7TH WIN

Defeat Cleveland West Quintet As M. Linder Scores 15 Points

Registering their seventh win in 10 games in the Ohio and Western Pennsylvania Saxon Basketball League, the Salem Saxons boys' quintet trounced Cleveland West, 44 to 33, at the Memorial building Saturday night.

The Salem girls team did not play due to the failure of Cleveland West's feminine aggregation to put in an appearance.

Mike Linder paced the local lads to the victory over West, the second they have gained over the Cleveland team this season. Linder hooped seven field goals and one free throw for 15 points.

The Salem team held the lead throughout the contest after piling up a seven-point advantage in the opening stanza. By periods, the local Saxons were out in front, 9 to 2 at the close of the first quarter, 15 to 12 at half time and 39 to 24 at the end of the third period.

Couch Pete Sanders used 12 players in the game, giving his second stringers a chance to see plenty of action.

The Salem team's win did not have any bearing on the championship race in the league's western division. Cleveland East is currently out in front in this division, while Canton is second.

The Salem girls lead their division of the league and will undoubtedly compete in the championship play-off.

First Round Champs Are Eliminated In Loss To McKinley

The first round champion Prospect school cagers of the Mickey McGuire league were eliminated from the third round race at the Memorial building Saturday morning when they lost to McKinley, 11 to 10.

The triumph enabled McKinley to remain in a tie for the lead with itally Basketers, who defeated Columbia, 18 to 14. Both McKinley and Reilly have won three straight third round games.

In the other league contest Saturday, St. Paul's quintet upset Fourth Street, 14 to 10.

PALESTINE ON TOP EAST PALESTINE, Feb. 28.—Taking an early lead and defending it throughout the game, East Palestine High school's Bulldogs defeated East Liverpool High cagers, 35 to 26, in a Columbiana county game here Saturday night.

Lisbon Beaten CAMPBELL, Feb. 28.—Finishing its scheduled season with a victory, Campbell Memorial High school cagers triumphed over Lisbon, 29 to 25 here Saturday night. Nace tallied 13 points for the losers.

RENO, Nev.—An improvised tear-gas bomb routed a robber at the grocery of Henry R. Brewster. Armed with an automatic, a robber ordered Brewster to hand over the contents of the cash register.

Brewster reached for his onion counter, grabbed a half dozen, and started throwing them at the thief.

The robber fired once at the floor and fled.

COUNTY CLASS B CAGE TITLE WON BY WATERFORD

Gains Victory Over Salineville In Final Game, 45-23

NEW WATERFORD, Feb. 28.—The championship of the Columbiana county Class B basketball tournament was held by New Waterford High school cagers today by virtue of their 45 to 23 victory over Salineville in the finals of the tourney here Saturday night.

The victory advances Waterford to the district tournament at McDonald along with Columbiana, which was exempted from county play. New Waterford will meet Champion High of Trumbull county in its first game of the district event at 7 p. m. Wednesday.

Faced by Mazey, who rang up 16 points on eight field goals, New Waterford held a wide edge over Salineville in the final game. The local team was out in front, 10 to 6 at the end of the first quarter and continued to increase its lead in the remaining periods.

The tournament for Class B reserve teams was won by Fairfield subs, who defeated New Waterford secondaries, 16 to 12.

SALEM SAXONS GAIN 7TH WIN

Defeat Cleveland West Quintet As M. Linder Scores 15 Points

Registering their seventh win in 10 games in the Ohio and Western Pennsylvania Saxon Basketball League, the Salem Saxons boys' quintet trounced Cleveland West, 44 to 33, at the Memorial building Saturday night.

The Salem girls team did not play due to the failure of Cleveland West's feminine aggregation to put in an appearance.

Mike Linder paced the local lads to the victory over West, the second they have gained over the Cleveland team this season. Linder hooped seven field goals and one free throw for 15 points.

The Salem team held the lead throughout the contest after piling up a seven-point advantage in the opening stanza. By periods, the local Saxons were out in front, 9 to 2 at the close of the first quarter, 15 to 12 at half time and 39 to 24 at the end of the third period.

Couch Pete Sanders used 12 players in the game, giving his second stringers a chance to see plenty of action.

The Salem team's win did not have any bearing on the championship race in the league's western division. Cleveland East is currently out in front in this division, while Canton is second.

The Salem girls lead their division of the league and will undoubtedly compete in the championship play-off.

CLEVELAND—Tony Pils, 23, has received a 30-day suspended sentence in the workhouse—because of a bump on his head. Tony told the judge he was running down the street when he banged his head on a fire-alarm box. The impact made Tony "see red" and he pulled the fire alarm, costing the city $350 for a false alarm.

East Palestine Site For College Game

EAST PALESTINE, Feb. 28.—Basketball teams from Westminster college of New Wilmington, Pa., and Youngstown college will collide at 8:15 tonight on the newly-built East Palestine High school gym.

The inter-collegiate game, arranged by W. C. George, is the first ever scheduled here.

BARTELL, MOORE STILL HOLDOUTS

Stengel Switches Team Lineup To Gain Batting Strength

(By Associated Press) BATON ROUGE, La.—Billy Terry faced a stiffer task than his players today as the New York Giants began the second stage of their training.

Dick Bartell and Joe Moore, the club's most determined holdouts, were expected to come to camp with the rest of the infielders and outfielders and Bill's job was to persuade them to sign contracts.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Although Holdouts Lefty Gomez and Red Kullback were missing, the New York Yankees' squad received two additions as it began its training chores. Tommy Henrich, who wants to strengthen his knee which was operated on during the winter, and Jake Powell, another outfielder, received permission to start with the batteryman.

TAMPA, Fla.—Pitcher Paul Derringer, Cincinnati Reds' hurler, today was reported ready to take a job as a golf pro at Sarasota unless the Redlegs meet his salary demands. Meanwhile Manager Bill McKechnie planned a long practice session today.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Monte Weaver, a 12-game winner last year, is back in the Washington Senators' fold after having signed a contract calling for a $1,500 raise. Manager "Bucky" Harris declared he hoped to find at least two big league pitchers in his rookie staff.

Promotions were made by President Roosevelt on recommendation of Secretary of War Woodring. (International Illustrated News)

SAN FRANCISCO—Midwinter sports, including skiing and bob sledding, will be one of the mid-summer attractions on man-made Treasure Island in San Francisco bay during the Golden Gate International exposition of 1939. The concessionaire promises to keep his skiing and bob sled course covered daily with fresh snow brought down from the Sierras.
SANTA ROSA, Cal.—An automobile burglar alarm enabled the police to make an unusual catch here. Seizing their guns and gas masks, the entire police staff rushed to the building indicated and cautiously working their way in discovered a cat attempting to pull the carcass of a rabbit through the sky light. The rabbit's body had broken one of the contact wires, setting off the alarm.

DEATHS

Balkans Recognize Italy's Conquest

ANKARA, Turkey, Feb. 28.—The Balkan Entente countries—Greece, Yugoslavia, Roumania and Turkey—decided today to recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

An announcement to this effect was made at the conclusion of the countries' conference on Balkan affairs.

The entente reaffirmed its loyalty to the League of Nations, but proclaimed its own independence and the equality of the individual states.

The entente further declared that foreign interference in affairs of the four states would not be tolerated.

Pershing Taking Fluids By Mouth

TUCSON, Ariz., Feb. 28.—The first bulletin from the bedside of Gen. John J. Pershing today said he had taken fluids through the mouth for the first time in four days.

His physicians last night had said they would become "really hopeful" of the ultimate recovery of the chief of the armies if he could overcome his inability to swallow.

Pictured at his desk in the United States Embassy in Berlin is Hugh Wilson, America's new envoy to the German Reich. He recently took up his duties there, succeeding Ambassador Dodd.
